Amerinet DI Q Review Ensures Maximum Savings On Capital Equipment Purchases

St. Louis (May 26, 2009) - Amerinet, Inc., a leading national healthcare group purchasing organization, announced the introduction of the Amerinet DI Q Review program, a no-cost, confidential strategic partnership with medical facilities that ensures maximum savings on diagnostic imaging equipment purchases through Amerinet.

“With budgets for capital equipment growing tighter each day, healthcare providers are looking for the most efficient and effective means of obtaining the greatest return on these vital purchases,” said Bob Baglini, senior director, laboratory and diagnostic imaging specialist for Amerinet. “Through this program, some member facilities have freed up valuable staff time and saved up to 20 percent off the quoted price on imaging equipment.”

Through the Amerinet DI Q Review program, an Amerinet clinical specialist reviews diagnostic imaging capital equipment quotations to maximize on potential savings through promotions and TargetBuys in addition to evaluating savings opportunities on peripheral products.

“Amerinet’s DI Q Review really delivers. It allows our institution to evaluate and determine potential cost-effective solutions to enhance the goals we want to achieve as an organization,” said Andrew Malic, materials management specialist, Fox Chase Cancer Center, Philadelphia, Pa.

Amerinet’s supplier partners, who realize the benefits of members receiving the right price the first time, support Amerinet DI Q Review. Additionally, Amerinet’s TargetBuys and promotions are so aggressive in their terms and conditions, that they clearly show the advantages of using a contracted supplier.
